Kromhout's Captain Must Stand Trial In Halifax Before Jury

Ross Mason, Who Was in Command of Motor Vessel When It Broke Away From R.C.M.P., Is Committed for Hearing By Magistrate

SEVEN MEN OF CREW ARE FREED

Canadian Press
Halifax, Feb. 6.—Captain Ross Mason, master of the motor vessel Kromhout when she broke seizure off Cape Breton two months ago, was committed for Supreme Court trial to-day on charges of theft and obstructing officers. The second count was laid against him to-day.

That seven men who made up Capt. Mason's crew, all accused of aiding theft, were discharged by Magistrate J. L. Barnhill, who said they had been under instructions from Capt. Mason when the Kromhout, allegedly carrying liquor, ran to sea with four coast guardsmen, who had been put aboard as a prize crew. The Kromhout went to the Island of St. Pierre, south of Newfoundland.

DRUGLESS BILL AGAIN SOUGHT

Delegation Here To See Premier Pattullo and Have Legislation Introduced

Drugless practitioners will again appeal to the Legislature for recognition by law of their profession. It was indicated to-day when a delegation from Vancouver arrived to talk to Premier Pattullo on the matter.

Dr. J. Bryant and Dr. H. Nowell were here to meet the Premier and ask government assistance in putting legislation through the House legalizing their rights to practice.

On several former occasions similar moves have been made but without success.

KIDNAP SUSPECTS ARE CLEARED

Associated Press
St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 6.—Authorities struck, but without success, in an initial effort to solve the $200,000 kidnaping of Edward Bremer, wealthy banker, abducted January 17.

Eleven men carrying $4,000, were arrested yesterday at Owatonna, Minn. In the hope they might furnish information leading to a solution of the case, but Chief of Police Thomas Dahill announced after questioning them that he was convinced they had no connection with Bremer's abduction.

There was a possibility, Chief Dahill said, the men might be linked with the $38,884 theft Sunday of 5,519 gallons of denatured alcohol here.

Big Rush For Seats At Opening of House

One Hundred Applications for Every Available Seat Before H. G. Perry, Speaker-Designate; Seating Member in House Also Problem

With something like one hundred applications for every seat available, the Speaker-designate of the eighteenth Legislature of British Columbia, H. G. Perry, is now preparing the plan for the opening ceremonies on Tuesday, February 20.

Importance, attaching to the coming session is reflected in the extraordinary flood of applications for seats on the floor of the House, as well as the gallery, and the "S.R.O." sign is already posted.

Not only in seating the general populace is the Speaker-elect having his troubles. The problem of seating the members of the Legislature is also one for deep consideration, due to the variety of groups which the electorate endorsed at the November polls. Mr. Perry is in touch with Rev. Robert Connell, C.C.F.'s who will head the Opposition, and R. H. Pooley, K.C., the lone survivor of the Union forces.

At the same time there is the Independent Non-Partisan group consisting of R. W. Bruhn and Olive Plante, the Labor Party of Thomas Uphill, and the Independents, including Herbert Ancomb, Victoria, and Hugh Savage, Duncan. Seats for these members must be provided on the left of the House, and the task is not so easy as when the

STRATOSPHERE RECORD CREDITED TO RUSSIANS WHO LOST LIVES

The landing disaster which last week followed the flight of three Russians into the stratosphere, causing their deaths, did not destroy their barograph. When that instrument was found in the wrecked gondola it registered 72,178 feet. It was sent to the International Aeronautic Federation for a ruling as to whether that body would accept the figure as a record for flight into the stratosphere. At the right, above, is a glimpse of the gondola shortly before the ascension from the Moscow district, and at the left, Paul Fedosenko (upper), commander, a scientist, and Andrew Vasenko (lower), the engineer who constructed the gondola, who with their companion were killed when the gondola struck the earth.

LONDON GOLD PRICE

Montreal, Feb. 6 (Canadian Press).—The price of bar gold in London to-day was $34.79 an ounce in terms of the Canadian dollar, based on the London price of 199s. 3d. and the quotation of sterling in Montreal at $4.98. Monday the Canadian equivalent was $34.81.

Time Is Running Against Friends Of Disarmament

Sir John Simon Warns All Who Hope for New Peace Basis; Foreign Minister Addresses British Commons

Canadian Press
London, Feb. 5.—"Time is running against the friends of disarmament," warned Sir John Simon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, before a crowded and deeply attentive House of Commons this afternoon as he initiated a full-scale debate on disarmament.

The key to the whole problem rested on finding a solution of the difficulties between France and Germany, Sir John declared, but it would be false to infer agreement would be promoted by leaving the two to argue it out between themselves.

"Our own country has a special interest in the subject," he went on, "for it is certain if a satisfactory agreement cannot be arrived at, we shall have to face the question of the present state of our own army."

"The present level must be reconsidered if we are compelled to live in a state of unlimited re-armament."

BRITISH PLAN
Sir John then referred to the revised British plan for disarmament put forward last week in an effort to bridge the gap between the French and German viewpoints.

The British document was not an idealistic plan which had no regard to the needs or claims of other governments, Sir John pointed out. It was

Police Fire On Crowd In French Capital As Attack Is Made On Parliament

Mob Sets Fire to Building of Ministry of Marine; Man Killed and Woman Probably Fatally Injured When Reinforced Police Fire on Crowd Charging Toward Parliament Buildings; Thirty Persons Wounded; Fight at City Hall; Chamber Gives Premier Daladier Votes of Confidence; Then Disorders Break Up Its Sitting for Second Time in Day

Canadian Press and Associated Press
Paris, Feb. 6.—An enraged mob set fire to the Ministry of Marine building in the Place de la Concorde to-day after police had fired into the battling crowd.

Paris, Feb. 6.—Police opened fire on a mob attempting to storm the Chamber of Deputies to-day and at least one man was killed and one woman probably mortally injured.

The police bullets wounded at least thirty persons. Inside the Chamber of Deputies, where police and troops were mobilized, it was reported one guardsman had been killed and 200 persons injured.

More than 3,000 persons rioted against the authorities in the great square where once stood the guillotine of the French Revolution.

Another mob outbreak developed at the City Hall. That building was filled with soldiers called out to reinforce the police who were overwhelmed by allied forces of communists, young Royalists and Socialists.

The firing in the Place de la Concorde began at 7.55 p.m. One woman was shot in the first fusillade.

Police held their fire until the mob actually started their rush across the Seine to the Chamber of Deputies building itself.

The sound of the shots was heard inside the chamber.

SECOND SUSPENSION
The blind deputy, Georges Scapini, who was injured yesterday evening in the rioting, arose from his seat in the chamber and asked Premier Daladier: "Have you given orders to fire?"

Then pandemonium broke loose inside the chamber, and, as the deputies themselves shouted wildly, the session was suspended for the second time to-day.

The police mobilization totaled 14,000. The troops were additional forces. The woman probably fatally wounded was a servant.

FASCISTS MOVE
Even as the firing broke loose at the Place de la Concorde, reports came of a demonstration starting at the Place de l'Opera, half a mile away, where a group of French Fascists shouting "Fascists!" started a parade to the Place de la Concorde.

They marched with their arms raised in the Fascist salute, singing the Marseillaise, the national anthem of France.

In the Place de la Concorde all was made confusion. A score were reported wounded there.

The mounted guards rode into the massed, struggling mob—driving them back, then driving them in the opposite direction.

As fast as a section was clear from the square other groups of hundreds of men poured back to take the places of those dislodged.

Troops filled the City Hall and occupied the square around the municipal building.

STRIKE IN PARIS CAUSES LOSSES

Paris, Feb. 6.—Business to-day was feeling the pinch of the week-old Paris taxi strike against a gasoline tax increase.

Department stores reported their sales had been cut one-third while theatres and other enterprises also have been affected sharply.

Fleets of private cars were hired by steamship lines to transport their passengers.

$15,000,000 Works Needed For B.C.

Ottawa's Views on Loan for Employment at Low Rate Awaited By Government

Premier Pattullo, Back in Capital, Corrects Conference Impressions

While no definite amount has been specified, a works programme totalling something like $15,000,000 would be required for British Columbia's employment needs at the present time, Premier T. D. Pattullo explained this morning.

The Premier is awaiting an answer from Ottawa on British Columbia's proposal for a provincial programme of works, separate from the federal plan, which would be financed on funds loaned by the Dominion Government at a low rate of interest.

It was evident, the Premier pointed out, that the suggestion of a $50,000,000 federal programme to cover the entire Dominion, of which B.C. might get $3,000,000 or $4,000,000 on a proportionate basis, would not handle the situation here.

If the combined works in British Columbia reached a total of $15,000,000, however, this would put probably 20,000 men to work and would take three times this many, including dependents, off the relief list.

The work, naturally, would be of a diversified character, according to the needs of the province.

The Premier indicated the province's policy on refunding would have to be a waiting one for the present time, following the refusal of the Dominion Government to assist the proposal for a joint scheme.

BRITISH POSTAL SURPLUS REPORTED

London, Feb. 6.—The British post-office to-day produced a record surplus of more than $55,000,000.

In the year just ended letters carried increased by 100,000,000, and telephones installed increased by 68,000 although the United Kingdom's total of $2,000,000 still leaves it far behind most other countries.

The telegraph service deficit incidentally was increased by about $5,500,000.

BUTTONS KILL ZOO SEA LION

New York, Feb. 6.—Mae West, the all-too-trustful sea lion, late of the Bronx Zoo, is dead—dead, like Lydida, are prime.

It wasn't nostalgia for the sea-washed Pacific promontories; it wasn't for love, and it wasn't of old age (for Mae was still in the first blush of her youth and beauty). To tell the truth, Mae died of a surfeit of brass buttons.

It was the old story, keepers of the Zoo said to-day. Mae had placed too much faith in seafaring men and had eaten everything they tossed in her direction. At least that was the inference, as most of the brass buttons Mae seems to have died of bore the anchor of the United States navy. It might have been children wearing sailor suits.

SKELETON OF MAN FOUND

Nanaimo, Feb. 6.—A skeleton of an adult male was found early this morning in the vicinity of the Arlington Hotel, Nanaimo, sixteen miles north of this city, by William McNeil, Sergt. J. Russell and Game Warden F. Greenfield left immediately to investigate.

It is believed the remains may be those of Benny Sands, twenty-five-year-old Nanaimo hunter, who disappeared in that vicinity two years ago. In spite of a wide search, Sands was never found.

SIXTY CHARGED IN SMUGGLERS' RING

Quebec, Feb. 6.—An indictment charging an additional twenty persons with being parties to the million-dollar liquor-smuggling ring will be laid before the Court of King's Bench later this week, according to information to-day.

This brings the number allegedly connected with the ring up to sixty as forty were included in the original indictment.

The round-up was made possible by the efforts of Royal Canadian Mounted Police who last November carried out a seizure of ledgers, correspondence and telegrams at the homes of alleged leaders of the ring.

WARSHIPS MAY NOT COME HERE

Admiralty Says It Knows Nothing About Report; Ottawa Not Informed

Canadian Press
London, Feb. 6.—Rumors that three British naval vessels would be stationed at Esquimalt, B.C., Pacific Coast base of the Royal Canadian Navy, were scoffed at in authoritative quarters in London to-day.

The Admiralty said it knew of nothing that would give a foundation to the report.

Possibly the report arose because the two Canadian destroyers normally stationed at Esquimalt are at present on a "southern" cruise and are believed to be in Colon. They are due back at Esquimalt in the early summer.

It is normal procedure for one of the cruisers of the West Indies Station of the British Navy to make a cruise up the Canadian Pacific Coast during the summer and this year the British visitor will likely be at Esquimalt at the same time as the Canadian units return on a routine visit.

Ottawa, Feb. 6.—Department of National Defence has not been informed of any step by the Admiralty to station three warships at Esquimalt, B.C. Press despatches from Victoria, B.C., state that some action is rumored.

SEATTLE FEELS EARTH SHOCKS

Tremors Reported in Sound District Not Recorded at Victoria's Observatory

Seattle, Feb. 6.—A slight earthquake shock at 5.10 a.m. (Pacific standard time) to-day, was reported by several residents of the Seattle district, particularly Queen Anne Hill. Distinct shocks, lasting several minutes, were reported by some persons.

A "very" weak shock was registered on the University of Washington seismograph at 5.19 a.m. The instrument showed the quake lasted ten seconds. Officials at the university said they had received telephone calls from persons in Olympia, Tacoma and Seattle, reporting the shock.

SILVER INQUIRY AT NEW YORK

U.S. Treasury Wants to Know About Speculative Operations

Associated Press
Washington, Feb. 6.—The United States treasury's investigation of silver holdings on the stock exchange at New York was revealed to-day as a special study into speculative operations.

With this report from an authoritative source, the threat of immediate moves in the monetary programme relative to silver was discounted.

Just what is behind the inquiry into speculation was not revealed. However, such a step is regarded as preliminary to any new silver action by the government and there is persistent speculation new developments and aid the white metal are in contemplation.

Period of Hard Work And Thrift Is Ahead Declares Bennett

Premier Tells Toronto Audience His Government Making No Spectacular Bid for Quick Return By Canada to Prosperity

By C. K. Blackburn, Canadian Press Staff Writer
Toronto, Feb. 6.—The Canadian government would make no "spectacular" bid for a quick return to prosperity so long as he remained its leader, Prime Minister Bennett declared in a speech delivered at the annual banquet of the Toronto Board of Trade yesterday evening.

"I know you are asking yourselves, 'Is it possible to make any satisfactory progress unless you do something spectacular that appeals to the imagination of all the people?'" the Prime Minister said, after recounting the recovery efforts put into motion by his government.

"There is no incentive to future effort based on the operations of stock markets and slips of paper that indicate new wealth," the Prime Minister said. He urged the wise development of capital and other labor utilized in the light of the best experience of the past, coupled with hard work and co-operation, as the only means of economic stability.

CHANGES REVIEWED
It was the Prime Minister's second consecutive address before the annual meeting of the Board of Trade, and he reviewed some of the changes that have taken place during the year, giving also a glimpse of what would give the government in the next few months.

DECREASE SEEN
Mr. Bennett said that in the last five years there had been a diminution of $1,500,000,000 in the newly created wealth of the four western provinces. "Think of what that has meant to the eastern Canada," the Prime Minister declared. "The drying up of that great source of new wealth was one of the greatest factors contributing to the depression in Canada."

Faced with a great surplus of imports over exports when it took effect in 1930, the government had set about to adjust the situation by using tariffs as an instrument of "national policy," the Prime Minister said, with the additional view, for the same purpose, of the Anti-Dumping Act and an embargo against some products from Russia.

"I offer no apology for that," Mr. Bennett said, "because it was done for a certain definite purpose—to reach the equilibrium between our purchases and our sales." The result had been to turn an adverse balance of trade to one equally favorable within slightly over three years. It had preserved the national solvency of the Dominion, and headed off possible national bankruptcy.

"I am not suggesting you do not criticize—or that your criticism may not be just—I am simply telling you what action we took and why we took it. I will not say that the consumer would not have got his goods a little cheaper had we acted otherwise—but I will say we are now the second industrial community within the British Empire."

"No government of any country would dare let in goods from other countries to close their home industries and add to the ranks of the unemployed," Mr. Bennett declared. "Whether we did right or wrong, whether you approve or disapprove, this government would do it again as readily as we did before."

PUBLIC WORKS
Touching briefly on the proposed public works programme to be launched in the spring, Mr. Bennett said the government would move with care and caution, utilizing the credit of the country to what would be considered a reasonable extent.

Social Legislation would not be overlooked, the Prime Minister promised, so the laboring people of the Dominion would go back to work with contentment in their hearts.

C.N.R. OUTLOOK
The Prime Minister described the new railway legislation and the resultant change in the Canadian National management. He bespoke the assistance and co-operation of all that the new board of trustees might be given a chance to reduce the railway deficits.

"We must find $1,250,000 weekly to meet the railway deficits," said Bennett, "either by traffic or taxes. Most of us want to see it done by traffic. The railway deficits are a menace to the credit of this country, and without saying, Every citizen can help the new board to carry out its functions in the most profitable way."

Bullets Fly As Paris Mobs Set Fires

Throughout the day, in an effort to avoid the rioting which finally broke out, police had stood at their stations and troops were held in readiness.

It was when a throng estimated at 3,000 persons broke into a riot across the bridge over the Seine which divides the Place from the Chamber Building that the riot was called to a halt.

Soon the Young Royalists joined with the Socialists and Communists, swinging their traditional canes and shouting "Vive le Roi" and "Vive la France." Premier Daladier received his second vote of confidence on his demand that debate be closed in the chamber.

The riot at the Place de la Concorde was the first time a call was issued for action by the soldiers.

Heavy fighting and rioting of communists and Socialists also broke out in the square in front of the City Hall, near Notre Dame Cathedral. Police swung clubs while the Communists sang the "Internationale" and hurled paving blocks.

Bedlam broke loose when Andre Tardieu, leader of the opposition to Premier Daladier, mounted the rostrum to speak.

His deputies slammed the tops of their desks, pounded with books and fists and roared epithets at one another.

Rightists charged the government with dictatorial methods.

J. M. Schenck Tells Hollywood It Is Facing Big New Competition

Hollywood, Calif., Feb. 6.—England was described as a serious competitor of Hollywood in movie making by Joseph M. Schenck, president of the United Artists and Twentieth Century Pictures, back to-day from a lengthy European visit.

"There is nothing for Hollywood to do but accept this competition in a friendly spirit," said Mr. Schenck, "because it is going to be of a mutual benefit to the industry on both sides of the Atlantic."

Mr. Schenck stated immediately on plans for co-operation on an inter-changing of stars, executives and technicians in the motion picture industry, in accordance with a United Artists alliance with the English concern he effected while abroad.

England, by the quality of its pictures, is compelling Hollywood to recognize its importance as a factor in screen production," he said.

STARS DEVELOPED
"This does not mean Hollywood is losing its supremacy as the dominating centre of world picture production," the challenge nevertheless is a serious one, and requires Hollywood's producers to be on their mettle. They are developing their own stars, and there are need our directors, writers and technical experts.

"Through 'Henry VIII' the English got a taste of the recognition to be won in America by pictures of truly epic quality. The English have the background and physical facilities for such productions and in Alexander Korda, they have a producer-director who knows from experience in Hollywood our methods of making pictures."

Parliament took place when Communists and other leftists cheered with members of the rightist parties.

A score of ushers finally separated them.

Grin, but nervous, Premier Daladier was able to complete the declaration of policy asking for a confidence vote after a quarter-hour of stormy interruption. There was continuous booing from the opposition.

When Premier Daladier spoke, the Communists yelled "Long live the Soviet Union," while the left in a rush against parliament, the right.

"The fundamentals of agitation," the Premier told the chamber, "lie in the economic and financial crisis. The incidents we are witnessing risk the crystallization of discontent."

He said he had shaken up the government because a "certain let-down" was revealed by the operations of Serge Stavyisky and the resultant collapse of the Bayonne Municipal Pawnshop.

The Premier pleaded with the Deputies to "unite" the right, the left and the center to support the firm measure of his young cabinet, threatened by "overthrow," Daladier said the Stavyisky "demonstrated" the "demoralized" country, enabling adversaries to renew their attacks.

FULL LIGHT NEEDED
"We can emerge from this stifling atmosphere only by courageously and energetically shedding full light on the scandal," he declared.

"In times even more troubling," he said, "our ancestors had strength to maintain democracy. To-day United Republicans should unite their example if we wish to assure progress of one of the rare regimes of liberty still left in the world. It is to that union we appeal."

France's resolve to remain on the good standard was expressed in a single sentence: "We are determined to maintain our monetary system," declared the Premier.

M. Daladier urged the imperative need of adopting a budget by reorganizing finances and improving taxes, and M. Daladier avoided a direct reference to an exchange of notes with Chancellor Hitler of Germany, but gave the whole French foreign policy as one of "international co-operation and national defence" in the presence of "a divided and uneasy Europe."

He renewed allegiance to the League of Nations.

Paris, Feb. 6.—Deputies, rioting among themselves, broke up a session of the Chamber to-day when Premier Daladier declared a vote of confidence behind him, refused to answer questions from the floor.

The legislators went wild. Some shouted "Fascism!" Others sang the Communist hymn, the "Internationale."

Bedlam broke loose when Andre Tardieu, leader of the opposition to Premier Daladier, mounted the rostrum to speak.

His deputies slammed the tops of their desks, pounded with books and fists and roared epithets at one another.

M.P.'s Launch Debate On C.C.F. Proposals

economic system was failing to function in the interests of the masses of the people, and should be superseded by one "based on the principle of co-operative production and distribution in which human needs should be given first consideration."

Mr. Woodworth made it the opportunity for an exposition of the entire C.C.F. programme, including nationalization of key industries and natural resources, control of export and import trade by government boards, nationalization of banking, credit and insurance, industrial and economic planning on a national scale, or, as he described it, a planned and socialist economy.

Liberals and Conservatives united in making the resolution an opportunity for an attack on the party led by the Winnipeg Laborite. The resolution stands on the order paper for consideration another day.

REGINA SPEECH RECALLED
John Vallance, Scottish-born member for South Battleford, led the Liberal attack and John B. Macdonald of Toronto, for the Conservatives.

Both ascribed to the C.C.F. the ambition to establish a bureaucratic system to control the entire political and economic life of the nation. Mr. Vallance, who spoke at Regina in which he referred to the "untrained masses" as incompetent to make political decisions, and Mr. Macdonald urged the C.C.F. programme was socialist, Socialism and Communism had the same objective, and Communism as exemplified in Russia meant conditions which never would be tolerated in Canada, he said.

PROTECTION FOR MINORITIES
A greater measure of power for the national government was needed to meet modern conditions, said Mr. Woodworth. If the C.C.F. attained power it would take immediate steps to draft the British North America Act. But, he insisted, referring to fears entertained in the province of Quebec, all existing rights of religious and racial minorities would be respected.

Speaking for the government, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, endorsed Mr. Heaps' shorter hours resolution. He said the government had given earnest consideration to the matter for several years, but was handicapped owing to the fact the legislature was not in session.

The debate on the Woodworth motion marks the first actual test of strength in the House for the C.C.F. and its programme.

DESCRIBED AS FEDERATION
The C.C.F. said Mr. Woodworth, in the debate yesterday, had described a party but a federation of various organizations. These he enumerated, and went on to discuss present conditions.

He did not think there was any permanent "comeback" in the present economic system.

"We might have some temporary revival, but it will be temporary," he said. "And we believe the only way to overcome our difficulties is to set up an economic system on a different basis."

INSECURITY SEEN
The present system condemned most of the people to poverty and insecurity, placing them under the sway of financiers and industrialists, said Mr. Woodworth. It tended to periods of feverish prosperity from which the only advantages were derived by profiteers, he said.

As against this, he urged the adoption of a "planned economy" under which the means of production and distribution would be owned by the people.

SAYS EQUILIBRIUM LACKING
"There is no proper equilibrium between the production of this country and the consuming power of the people," said Mr. Woodworth. "We are living in an age of great abundance, yet great numbers of our people are not on the poverty line, at least experiencing a great deal of anxiety."

The social item was socialization of finance, which he linked up with banking, currency, credit and insurance. He quoted figures to show the tremendous increase in the production of the capitalization of the pulp and paper industry. To regulate such matters he would have an industrial investment board working in co-operation with a socialized banking system. There would be socialized ownership of industry operating under a planned commission.

It was insisted the working people be given representation on such commissions. Only under a regime of public ownership and operation would the benefits accrue to the people. The government must also have control of mass buying.

TRANSPORTATION FIRST
Contrary to charges directed against the party, the C.C.F. had never thought of socializing all industries. Transportation, communications and electric power, however, must come first in that socialization scheme. Next would be mining, pulp and paper, and the distribution of milk. What was desired was a stable and equitable transition to a co-operative commonwealth. The party insisted on certain broad principles: the welfare of the community must take precedence over the claims of wealth. A C.C.F. government would not play a role of rescuing bankrupt concerns for the sake of the producers and owners.

Mr. Woodworth emphasized his party programme contemplated security of tenure for the farmers, including insurance against crop failures and removal of the tariff burden from agriculture, together with efforts to increase the price of farm commodities.

The platform of the C.C.F. expressly guaranteed the rights of all racial and religious minorities, said Mr. Woodworth.

stated Mr. Vallance, and the C.C.F. had been unable to get the rural vote in the Mackenzie provincial election. The C.C.F. platform varied in different parts of the country, he charged.

"A sheep in wolf's clothing" was the description given by J. R. Macneil, Conservative, Toronto Northwest, of the resolution.

"I agree," said Mr. Macneil, "that it is Mr. Woodworth's desire to keep Communism out of his party; but he cannot do it."

The speeches had disclosed two orientations, said Michael Luchkovitch, U.F.A., Vegreville. The Conservatives were prepared to do a protective principle; the Liberals would let things take their course, and, Luchkovitch said, wait for something to turn up.

"What the country wants to know is not what Sir Wilfrid Laurier did or what Sir John A. Macdonald did; it wants to know what the leaders of to-day are prepared to do," declared Mr. Luchkovitch. In his speech last week the Liberal leader had not told the House what he was prepared to do.

Co-operation as proposed by the C.C.F. was not Communism as found in Russia, Mr. Luchkovitch insisted. "It was I would be the first to leave my country, not only when we realize it would be co-operation. They need credit in buying, in selling and credit and that was what the resolution proposed."

TWENTY-FOUR HOUR
During the debate on the Heaps hours of labor resolution, Mr. Heaps said production in Canada "exceeds demand." He said the government had given earnest consideration to the matter for several years, but was handicapped owing to the fact the legislature was not in session.

Mr. Heaps suggested a twenty-hour week would provide sufficient labor to produce everything required.

"SLAVE CAMPS"
Charges that "slave camps" were operated by the Ontario government in which men received only a few cents for a month's work were made yesterday afternoon by Hon. Peter H. Heenan, former Minister of Labor. The Kenora-Rainy River Liberal said he possessed cheques issued to men in the relief camps.

The former labor minister, who left the treasury benches for overalls and a locomotive engineer's window after the last election, said thousands of men worked in "slave camps" in Ontario, "under the most disgraceful conditions that may be found in any country, not including Russia. I have here five or six cheques which these men have received after a month's work. One is for seventy cents, another for eighty cents, the next, twenty-six cents, one for nine cents and then last of all, one for one cent," he said.

The federal government contributed to the relief expenditures of Ontario, continued Mr. Heenan, calling on Hon. J. G. Macdonald, Minister of Finance, to withhold further payments until decent working conditions were instituted.

The former Liberal government had passed the fair wage and eight-hour day act, Mr. Heenan said. The Conservative government had done nothing to further the principle of reduction in hours in industry.

PLAN SUPPORTED
The Heaps proposal received the support of Angus MacInnis, Liberal, Vancouver South.

Wilfred Hanbury, Liberal, Vancouver-Burrard, supported the resolution. British Columbia, he said, with higher rates of wages and shorter hours under provincial legislation, had to contend with other provinces where these labor regulations did not exist.

Mr. Hanbury suggested the provinces and Dominion confer with a view to having the question of authority reduced under the British North America Act.

The resolution was acceptable to the government, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, said. He was leading the House in the absence of the Prime Minister.

TOTAL DROPS

Ottawa, Feb. 6.—Total amount paid out in war pensions has been dropping for the last three years, and at the end of December, 1933, the annual war pension bill was approximately $3,500,000 less than in 1931, and nearly $2,000,000 less than in 1932. This information was conveyed to Hon. Ian MacKenzie, Liberal, Vancouver Centre, in the House of Commons yesterday by Hon. Murray MacLaren, Minister of Pensions and National Health.

The total for 1931 was $47,459,478, for 1932, $43,282,230, and for 1933 the total was $41,969,395.

The decrease occurred in retroactive adjustments and restoration of final payments.

Ottawa, Feb. 6 (Canadian Press).—The net debt of Canada at the close of the calendar year 1933 was $2,687,122,482. This information was given in the House of Commons yesterday by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance.

SHELTER TO BE REORGANIZED*Ontario Government Changing
Heads of Staff at Windsor
Children's Institution*Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 6.—The administration of the Windsor children's shelter had been struck a death-blow to-day—its board of management faced dissolution and its matrons and its superintendent faced dismissal. Charges that shelter children had been struck with sticks, that corporal punishment was "severe to a degree," that older girls bathed boys nearly as old were held to have been proved.

In the report on his investigation into shelter conditions released yesterday evening by Hon. W. G. Martin, Ontario Minister of Welfare, Commissioner M. A. Sorselli recommended Mr. Sorselli and Catherine Strang, matrons, and M. R. Winters, superintendent, be dismissed.

Wholesale dissolution and reorganization of the Windsor Children's Aid Society, the administration body of the institution, was also recommended. Commissioner Sorselli suggested the present society's secretary, the medical director and the staff remain in charge until reorganization can be effected.

Mr. Martin confirmed the recommendations. "This confirmation," he said, "is evidence of the fact that as far as the province of Ontario is concerned, abuse of children in public institutions will not be tolerated."

RESIGNATION DEMANDED

At the same time, the minister denied he had received the resignation of Mr. Winters. "We are not waiting for his resignation," he declared. "We are demanding it from him."

Many specific charges of cruelty against the Strang sisters were found to have been unsubstantiated in the evidence given at the Windsor hearings, which were authorized last November 17, and continued until January 15, but Mr. Sorselli found the "general atmosphere" in the shelter warranted criticism. He wrote in his report:

"The Strang sisters made an effort to create a favorable impression on visitors, both casual and frequent, and their attitude towards the children when visitors were present was not their actual mode of conduct towards residents of the shelter."

"The general atmosphere was that of a place in which children were suffered or tolerated, rather than the atmosphere of home."

"There was no organized effort to provide anything in the way of recreational and play outlets for the children in the shelter."

"There was a constant use of minor punishments which must have kept the children in a state of fear and irritation."

He said there was a marked difference between the diet provided for the children and that given the staff. There was forced feeding and "considerable slapping."

DEATH OF "BUDDY"

The commissioner did not attach blame to the Misses Strang in connection with the death of Ivan (Buddy) Stevens and Marie Godsell Pearl last year, but he said the seriousness of Buddy's illness should have been recognized earlier than it was.

Winters was found negligent in that he did not give regular supervision of children placed in foster homes, was negligent in making required departmental returns, and did not report to his local board complaints which reached him respecting treatment of shelter children.

The Premier's announcement came following the refusal to move the resolution by Peter A. Miskew, member for Victoria, who at the same time announced he was crossing the floor of the House from the government benches to join the Liberal Party.

Fireless Cooker Found In Arizona 25,000 Years Old*Associated Press

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 6.—"Fireless cookers" believed to have been built 25,000 years ago by inhabitants of what is now Arizona were uncovered by a University of Arizona archaeology expedition over the week-end.

Dr. Byron Cummings, head of the university archaeology department, who headed the expedition to prehistoric ruins lying northeast of Bisbee, said the people who built the ancient "fireless cookers" lived in the "Glacial and Post-glacial periods in Arizona, which geologists have fixed at 25,000 years or more ago."

There has been some controversy over similar pits and the use to which they were put, but Dr. Cummings believes they were used for roasting.

"I am convinced," the archaeologist said to-day, "that these ruins are roasting pits. I believe they were used for large scale roasting and served really as fireless cookers."

The pits are circular and each has in the bottom a layer of clay. One of the pits was five feet deep and five feet in diameter. It is lined with a deep layer of clay and shows the action of fire.

"I believe a fire was built in the pit and after it died down the embers were poked into holes and hot rocks placed in a layer over the entire bottom of the pit. Over these embers and rocks were placed greens and on top of them was put whatever was to be roasted. This came another layer of clay and a final covering that closed the pit and permitted slow, long cooking."

BUSINESS GROWS
IN AUSTRALIA*Chief Problems Are Low
Wheat and Butter
Prices*Canadian Press

Canberra, Australia, Feb. 6.—Australia rightly has a brighter outlook as 1934 gets under way than for a considerable time past. A rise in the price of wool, of which Australia is the world's largest producer; loan conversion operations which have made great savings in interest payments; budget equilibrium permitting taxation reduction, and a notable improvement in the gold yield are the high spots of the recovery movement.

Low prices for wheat and butter, however, remain serious problems and drastic governmental steps have been put under way in an effort to remedy them. The Australian government has granted wheat producers a subsidy of $18,000,000, while in the chief butter-producing states (Victoria, New South Wales and Queensland) acts have been passed with Commonwealth co-operation for controlling the supply and fixing prices in the domestic market.

BALANCING BUDGET

While the estimated aggregate deficit of the seven governments for 1933-34 is around $40,000,000, the improvement generally suggests it will not be long before all budgets are balanced. The Commonwealth government itself expects a small surplus despite recent reductions in taxation.

The chief difficulty is being experienced in the three states depending mostly on joint wheat and butter production—South Australia, Tasmania and Western Australia. Here again Western Australia is being helped considerably by the improvement in gold mining.

The subsidy for wheat producers will be provided, to the extent of more than 50 per cent, by a flour tax equivalent to between two and four cents a four-pound loaf. The remainder is being raised out of revenue. The subsidy is allocated to the various states on the basis of wheat acreage.

Australia, like Canada, is not immediately affected by the world export curtailment on wheat effected by the London wheat agreement. Australia was allocated 105,000,000 bushels and at present it seems likely her coming wheat crop will not be more than 50,000,000 bushels. Estimated domestic requirements are 50,000,000 bushels and furthermore the annual export of flour might justifiably be expected to take up to 30,000,000 bushels, leaving around 70,000,000 for export.

RUSSIAN GAINS

Montreal, Feb. 6.—To think of Russia in terms of sabotage trials, OGPU horrors and other calamities is as fair as to think of the United States as continually ravaged by machine gun fire from Chicago hoodlums, Robert Cromie, publisher and editor of the Vancouver Sun, told the Young Men's Canadian Club here yesterday evening.

Speaking on "The Present Crisis in Russia," Mr. Cromie emphasized it was wrong to jump to conclusions concerning Russia. He pointed out that while living standards in the U.S.S.R. were lower than Canadian ones, it should be remembered their food, for example, while it might not be considered particularly tasty on the North American continent, was twice as good as that of China and three times better than that of India.

AVERAGE FOUND

The average Russian lives in about the same state of everyday contentment as the average Canadian, he remarked. He described a factory where employees worked on a seven-hour day basis, with a holiday annually of from three to five weeks. Their pay, he said, taking into consideration living conditions was good.

Praise for the spirit of the Soviet working people was forthcoming from Mr. Cromie. The idea that Russian labor was worked like a slave gang he believed to be an absolute fallacy. Everyone he met, he remarked, worked hard, but cheerfully.

"Russia to-day," he went on, "is on a sort of economic honeymoon. The people have the illusions of new-wedded life, but they have also the joys of that blissful state and high hopes for the future."

WANT COUGAR
BOUNTY RAISED*Special to The Times

Ganges, Feb. 6.—The annual general meeting of the Salt Spring Island Sheep Breeders' Association was held in the Mahon Hall February 2, Gavin C. Mount presiding.

Secretary C. A. Goodrich read the financial statement, the president giving a report of the year's work. Reference was made to the depredations made on the island flocks by a cougar, which was hunted and killed last fall. Discussion followed on the bounty on cougars. It was decided that in the event of another cougar visiting the island that the association would guarantee the sum of $25 to a hunter bagging it. A resolution will be forwarded to the government asking that the bounty on cougars be raised. A vote of thanks to the retiring directors was proposed by Dr. Gunn and replied to by H. Ruckie. Election of officers took place, with the following result: President, Gavin C. Mount, Salt Spring Island; vice-president, H. Ruckie, "Beaver Point"; and ten directors, Mrs. T. Charlesworth, Messrs. W. M. Palmer, D. Wintrop, C. A. Goodrich, J. S. Rogers, H. Price, H. De Burch, "Frevost Island", N. W. Wilson, W. Y. Stewart, "Beaver Point," and Desmond G. Crofton, Ganges.

Dr. Gunn, provincial livestock commissioner, gave an address. He congratulated the members of the association on the progress they had made, show in June, 1933. He stressed the three main points necessary for good breeding, freedom from parasites (internal and external), dipping and good feeding. He reminded them that they were happily situated, in climatic conditions, for early marketing, being able to get their early lambs on the market two to three weeks ahead of others. He urged them to take care of the fleece, as although the price of wool was low now, prospects were brighter for the future. Dr. Gunn expressed his willingness to assist the sheepbreeders in any way possible, whenever called upon, and he hoped to visit the island again in the near future.

CODEx THEME OF LECTURE

Dean Quainton Will Speak at Memorial Hall Wednesday

The Codex Sinaiticus, the romantic story of which is to be the theme of Dean Quainton's lecture at the Memorial Hall on Wednesday at 8 p.m., is said to be the work of four scribes, one of whom has been identified by scholars as being also associated with the preparation of the Codex Vaticanus in Rome.

The Emperor Constantine was responsible for having fifty copies of the Sacred Scriptures made on prepared parchment by transcribers thoroughly practised in their art, and Tischendorf, whose researches led to the discovery of the Codex Sinaiticus, believed that it was one of these fifty copies thus made. Dating back to the second half of the fourth century, it contains the New Testament complete, besides the Epistle of Barnabas and portions of that strange allegorical composition, the Shepherd of Hermas, and its possession gives Britain three out of four of the chief manuscript authorities for the text of the New Testament.

DONATIONS

Donations towards the purchase price are reported as pouring in upon the trustees of the British Museum, and the British government is putting up pound for pound by way of showing their approval on behalf of the nation; while thousands of people have waited patiently in order to view the historic manuscript at the British Museum. Along with Codex Sinaiticus, the British nation also possesses Codex Bezae, in the custody of the University of Cambridge, and the Alexandrine Codex, which was presented to Charles I by the Patriarch of Constantinople in 1628 and which is in the British Museum. The lecture is under the auspices of the Men's Guild of Christ Church Cathedral, and admission will be free.

LECTURES ON PEACE RIVER

Rev. C. G. MacKenzie Outlines Growth of Country Since Exploration

The Peace River country, from the date of its exploration by Alexander Mackenzie to its present status as a great wheat producing area peopled by about 60,000, formed the topic of an address given to the Victoria Ministerial Association yesterday morning by Rev. C. G. MacKenzie, pastor of the Centennial Church, at the regular monthly meeting in the Y.M.C.A. Rev. F. Conley, president of the association occupied the chair.

Prefacing his address on the Peace River country with a geographical description of the rivers combined in the Mackenzie-River system, Rev. MacKenzie described the area through which the rivers flowed.

The Peace River country proper, the speaker said, comprises an area of 120,000 square miles, including the basin drained by the Finlay and Parsnip Rivers. The variety of this country in scenery, climate and resources, matches its vastness, he said. It provides an occasion for the widening of Canadian settlements in which is now a narrow belt across the continent, into that vast hinterland now known to provide an environment suitable for home-making in all its aspects. The speaker indicated that one of the best ways for Canadian statesmen to approach the problems of depression would be an organized effort to connect this northern area with those settlements already bound intimately together. "If such were done we would no longer be sapping the vitality of thousands of our youth by paying them to remain in idleness about our cities, but would be giving them the opportunity to revive those virile qualities which made our forefathers great and which Canada cannot afford to lose," said Mr. MacKenzie.

RELIEF SCALE RAISE SOUGHT

Esquimalt Unemployed Ask Council to Increase Present Amounts

Seeking an increase in the present relief scale, an unemployed delegation numbering twenty-four, waited on Reeve Alexander Lockley and members of the Esquimalt Council yesterday evening. After giving speakers a sympathetic hearing, Reeve Lockley advised the delegation to place their request before the provincial government. If the unemployed wished to send a delegation to interview the government he and members of the Esquimalt Council would be only too willing to accompany them.

Rev. Father A. B. Wood, the chief spokesman for the delegation, made an eloquent appeal for additional assistance for those residents, some of whom resided in the municipality before the incorporation order, who were now unemployed. "The Municipal Council is the only body to which these men can present their needs," said Father Wood, "and while we realize that the hands of the council are tied to a certain extent, by the Municipal Act, we feel that further assistance should be given. They are not agitators. They want an opportunity to work and do not want to exist on the charity of others," continued Father Wood. He suggested to the council that in the event of public works being carried out in Esquimalt, members of the board might use their influence in trying to give the unemployed in the district work in this connection.

REQUESTS MADE

The requests of the delegation were as follows: Two days' relief work per week at $3 per day for all unemployed workers with dependents; free water supply for unemployed; rent allowance not less than $5.50 per month for all persons housing tenants on relief; a monthly credit toward unpaid municipal taxes of $5.50 per month for all relief workers owning their own homes; and a uniform scale of relief for unemployed single men of five and one-half days' work per month at $3 a day, a total of $16.50 per month. It was suggested that these measures should be placed into effect until such times as the provincial government institutes "work and wages."

Reeve Alexander Lockley elaborated on the intenseness of the present unemployment and informed the delegation that the financial position of Esquimalt would not permit of further relief projects, and certainly not an increase in the amount at present. True, relief work in the municipality was halted, but only temporarily, until negotiations were completed with the bank. In closing, the reeve told the delegation that representation should be made to the provincial government.

MORE OPTIMISTIC

Councillor Albert Heald, in addressing the delegation felt that the reeve had painted a very black picture, but personally he was a little more optimistic. In the past two years Esquimalt had done the best they could for the unemployed, and had even "gone around with the hat," he stated.

As an immediate measure to aid the unemployed, Councillor Heald favored the construction of a sewer across Skinner's Flats. The work was certainly necessary and such a project in addition to assisting the unemployed for a period of six months, would greatly benefit the municipality. By appropriating $1,000 from the dog tax fund, $750 from the sewer loan account, and $2,000 from the sinking fund surplus of the sewer loan account, the municipality would be able to proceed with the project. Permission for the spending of this money would have to be secured from the Inspector of Municipalities, but Councillor Heald felt that in abnormal times, such as the present, this permission could be obtained. In closing, he told the men that an increase in relief would be impossible at present as the finances of the municipality would not warrant such action.

The bodies of the new cars approach the shape of welded steel spheres and are stronger. The speeds are higher and are achieved with less power plant energy. The streamlining results in less wind resistance, permitting air current to flow past quietly. Quietness is also aided by body insulation in every panel. The interiors are roomier than previous models, with more abundant leg room. A new, efficient ventilation and air-conditioning of interiors is used. The front windows are provided with ventilating vanes. It is said that six different systems of ventilation are possible by a few different adjustments. Another new feature is the six-position head lamps. The lamp beams are adjustable to three different levels to permit beams to be thrown to the Studebaker's low prices are the talk of Canada!

$925 AND UP, AT THE FACTORY

FROM THE SPEEDWAY COMES THEIR STAMINA

FROM THE SKYWAY COMES THEIR STYLE

TAKE a look at them! Take a drive in them! The Canadian motoring public has seen nothing to compare with them! They're the finest automobiles that ever carried the famous Studebaker nameplate. And their low prices are the sensation of the year.

Impressively long and roomy—marvelously comfortable—superbly fitted and upholstered, these startling new Studebakers are dramatically streamlined in the manner of the most modern transport speedplanes. Their steel-over-steel bodies are not only exceptionally quiet but tremendously rigid and strong.

And into each of these cars, Studebaker has built the greatest comfort and safety feature of the year—Studebaker's own million-dollar development—Quadrifoil Suspension which makes front seats ride like rear seats and subdues pitching, jouncing and sideway.

You have scarcely anything to do but steer these Studebakers. One uncanny "mechanical brain" after another reduces the physical effort and mental strain of your driving to an almost incredible extent.

And they're Canadian cars through and through—built in Canada by Canadian workmen—engineered with an understanding of Canadian driving conditions. See and drive one of these sensationally low priced skyway style Studebakers today.

HERE'S THAT QUICK WAY TO STOP A COLD

Take 2 Aspirin Tablets. Drink full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

Almost Instant Relief in This Way

The simple method pictured above is the way doctors throughout the world now treat colds.

It is recognized as the QUICK-EST, safest, surest way to treat a cold. For it will check an ordinary cold almost as fast as you caught it.

Ask your doctor about this. And when you buy, see that you get Aspirin Tablets. Aspirin is the trademark of The Bayer Company, Limited, and the name Bayer in the form of a cross, is on each tablet. They dissolve almost instantly. And thus work almost instantly when you take them. And for a gargle, Aspirin Tablets dissolve so completely they leave no irritating particles. Get a box of 12 tablets or a bottle of 24 or 100 at any drug store.

Educational Work of U.S. Business Clubs Effective

Miss Mary Stewart Says Women Studying Economics to Good Purpose

U.S. Federation Convenes, Visitor Here, Outlines Three-fold Programme

Business women's clubs throughout the United States have been concentrating their energies upon their three-fold educational programme as one means of meeting the depression, according to Miss Mary Stewart of Washington, D.C., national convener of the educational committee of the U.S. Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, who has been a visitor in the city over the weekend. Miss Stewart is the author of the "Business Women's Collect," which has been learned by every one of the clubs in the U.S. Federation, and is known to many in Canada.

SCHOLARSHIPS GIVEN
The Federation's programme includes the provision of scholarships to enable girls to obtain higher education, with a view to fitting themselves for a career; the encouragement of the study of economics among the younger women, and the fostering of vocational guidance. The scholarship plan has proved most successful. Miss Stewart stated, many deserving cases having been assisted through high schools and universities. The study of economics has been sponsored by the Federation with a view to encouraging women to take a closer interest in the problems affecting the country and, incidentally, their own livelihoods, the ramifications of tariff, legislation and other political matters upon the industrial and business world being studied and discussed by the various groups. It was felt that only by the intelligent understanding of economics could women use their franchise to the best advantage to the country and to themselves.

Vocational guidance has proved an invaluable factor in assisting girls and young women to find their niche in the business and professional world, and thus avoid the "square pegs in round holes," whose problem has been intensified during the recent years of unemployment. Miss Stewart observed.

ASSIST UNEMPLOYED

In addition to its educational programme, the individual clubs have been assisting many unemployed women in various ways. In the Washington Club, of which Miss Stewart is a member, a donation of $200 was set aside for the use of the women in charge of employment bureaus. "Frequently a girl comes into the bureau looking for a job and has not the car fare to get to a prospective employer, or is so down and out that she needs help before she is in a fit state to apply for any job. Some of the cases have been so pitiful that the women in charge of the bureaus have often dug down into their own pockets to help these unfortunate ones, but we realized that they could not afford to do so, so our club provided this fund for the purpose, and it has proved a 'go-round' she observed.

NRA AND WOMEN

When asked if NRA was affecting the business women in the United States, Miss Stewart observed that it should prove of assistance in ameliorating conditions among the industries in which "sweated labor" had been found to exist, and that it should improve the status of working women. But, in her opinion, it was inevitable that such a large experiment would require time to work out, and for its effect to become felt.

Miss Stewart, who is in the Department of Indian Affairs, of the U.S. government, is in the west on business connected with her department, and has been making a survey of Indian schools throughout the States. She has been assisted in the survey by Mr. Eldridge of Washington, who accompanied her to Victoria, and who left with her yesterday afternoon for the east.

Oak Bay C.G.I.T. Has Mother and Daughter Affair

Girls' Week was celebrated at Oak Bay United Church with a mother and daughter banquet held in the school-room Friday evening. Sixty-five mothers, daughters and guests were present, and the tables were beautifully decorated in the group's colors. After the singing of the C.G.I.T. grace, full justice was done to the supper prepared by Mrs. S. Johnson and her helpers, members of the Obyra Club waiting at the tables.

Following supper, the mothers and guests were welcomed by Miss White, president of the C.G.I.T. department, who then called upon Thelma Meiss to give the toast to "Our Mothers," which was fittingly responded to by Mrs. A. Tinker. A short song followed. In response to the toast to the C.G.I.T., given by Edna Holdridge, Mrs. Freeman, the guest speaker, gave a broad idea of the C.G.I.T. movement, its aims, methods and activities.

Toasts to the Sunday school and the Tuxis and Trail Rangers were given by Lorraine Carruthers and Winnie Williams and responded to by Mrs. Hipkins and Jack Malone respectively. Musical selections included a vocal solo by Miss Ina Tait and a violin solo by Patricia Williams. Barbara Draper gave a reading, "The Words of a Song," by Nellie McClung, and Ruth Parr outlined the history of C.G.I.T. in British Columbia.

An interesting contest took the form of a map of British Columbia, with the places where C.G.I.T. is established fittingly marked. This was won for the "Wohelo" group by Willie Williams, with Ruth Parr a very close second, and for the "Wing's Daughters," by Audrey Ruffell, with Lorraine Carruthers second.

Following a hearty vote of thanks to all who had contributed to the evening's success, the programme was brought to a close with a short dedication service, led by Mrs. G. B. Switzer and the singing of "Taps."

WELSH ARTISTS GIVE CONCERT

The following excellent programme was given by the Marigold Choir, directed by Jack Jones, ably assisted by supporting artists, recently. Choir numbers were:

"Full Pathway Five" (Wood); "Dreamy Town" (Charles); "Jingle Bells" (White); "Jolly Ploughman" (Dr. Anne Patterson); anthem, "Seek Ye the Lord" (Roberts), incidental tenor solo by Rev. Mr. Allan; anthem, "Sun of My Soul" (Turner), incidental solo, Mrs. Pebernatt, soprano, and Mr. Wood, baritone.

Other numbers were: Piano duet, the Misses Fryatt; trumpet solo, Mr. Alexander; vocal duet, Rev. and Mrs. Allan; and Messrs. Jones and Wood, solo by Mrs. Pebernatt, Messrs. Fryatt and Wood.

A very pleasing artist was heard in little Margaret Burns, who sang two solos and received much applause. A debate on the Welsh in America, between Messrs. D. Evans and Gardner proved both amusing and instructive.

THEY CANNOT STOP GRACIE

Los Angeles, Feb. 6.—At the party given the other night by Emanuel Cohen for Gary Cooper and his bride, George Burns and Gracie Allen, the widely known radio comic, went into their act, a part of which went as follows:

Gracie—My brother was held up by two men last night.

George—Is that so? Where was he held up?

Gracie—Well, from the reports, all the way home.

PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Adams, of Salt Lake City, Utah, are registered at the Empress Hotel for a short visit.

Mr. Oscar Erickson of Vancouver is spending a few days in Victoria and is a guest at the Empress Hotel.

Mrs. Christopher Calor, Rockland Avenue, who has been spending a few days in Vancouver, has returned to her home in Victoria.

Mrs. H. C. Adams of Vancouver, who has been spending a few days in Victoria as the guest of Mr. Justice MacQuarrie and Mrs. MacQuarrie, the Willingdon, has returned to her home on the mainland.

Mrs. E. W. Boak, Joan Crescent, has left for Toronto to visit her mother, Mrs. Edsall. While in the east Mrs. Boak will also visit in Montreal and Ottawa, and will return to her home in Victoria at the end of this month.

To welcome home Miss Dawson, who has been spending a few months in China, Mrs. F. E. Winslow entertained a number of Miss Dawson's friends at a tea hour this afternoon at her home in Craigdarroch.

Mrs. J. R. Francis was hostess at the tea hour this afternoon at her home on Constance Avenue. Entertainment, and at the tea hour was assisted by Mrs. O. R. Parker and Miss Donald, who presided at the daintily-appointed table.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Spencer of Vancouver, with their son, David, who returned Sunday from their annual winter sojourn in Hawaii, entertained at a farewell party of sixty-five at their suite in the Royal Hawaiian Hotel, prior to leaving Honolulu.

Dr. James Anderson of Hongkong, who with Mrs. Anderson and family has been visiting Mrs. Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alec Gillespie, Fairfield Road, since their return from England, will leave on Saturday on the Empress of Canada for his home in the Orient. Mrs. Anderson will remain in Victoria for a longer visit with her parents.

On Monday evening a number of her friends gave Mrs. Irene Watson a surprise visit at her home on Shelbourne Street, the occasion being her birthday. A happy time was enjoyed and refreshments were served. The self-invited guests included Mrs. A. Lewis, Mrs. A. Lambrie, Mrs. L. Lambrie, Mrs. H. Jackson, Mrs. T. Rhodes and the Misses M. Johnson, F. Schink, E. Woolcock, Mrs. Williams, J. Lewis, B. Lambrie and S. Lambrie.

A number of her Victoria friends joined Mrs. Watson on Saturday evening and invaded the home of Miss Grace Sluggitt to pay her a surprise visit, the occasion being her birthday. Four tables of court were being played. The ladies' prizes were won by Miss J. Gordon, Mrs. G. Hartnell, Mrs. H. Campbell and Miss M. Bjolander, while Mr. F. Middleton, Mr. S. J. Stephenson, Mr. G. Sluggitt and Mr. E. Garret won the gentlemen's. Two special prizes were won by Mrs. F. Disher and Miss G. Sluggitt. Delicious refreshments were served at the conclusion of the cards. In addition to the above mentioned players were also Mrs. G. Sluggitt, Mrs. S. Stephenson, Mr. G. Hartnell, Mr. H. Campbell, Mr. D. Miller and Mr. W. E. Quayle.

A marriage of interest to many in Victoria took place at St. John's Cathedral, Hongkong, on January 4, when Marjorie, daughter of Captain Berkeley Holme-Sumner, C.B.E., R.N. (retired), and Mrs. Holme-Sumner, and Lieutenant Richard Christopher John Dreyer, R.N., son of Admiral Sir Frederic and Lady Dreyer, were united in marriage. Following the ceremony a reception was held on H.M.S. Kent. The bride is a niece of the late Colonel James Harvey and of Mrs. Harvey, Knapp Island.

PRINCE GREETED AT CAPE TOWN

Canadian Press
Cape Town, South Africa, Feb. 6.—The streets of South Africa's leading city were crowded yesterday for a miniature royal procession that followed the arrival by steamer of Prince George, youngest son of the king and queen, for a visit of several weeks in South Africa.

A great reception was tendered the prince at the quayside and afterward he visited the Town Hall and received an address of welcome. In honor of his visit it was announced that three months would be remitted on the unexpired portion of any prison sentences passed prior to yesterday, except in cases of violence.

FIREMEN PLAN ANNUAL BALL

Committees for Brilliant
Social Function April 13,
Are Named

Allaying the usual superstitions connected with Friday the thirteenth, the Victoria firemen this year have arranged to hold their annual ball on Friday, April 13, at the Empress Hotel.

This event, always one of the highlights of the year's social calendar, this year is expected to be bigger and better than ever and plans are being made for one of the most elaborate dances which the firemen have sponsored.

Captain Robert Brindle is president of the ball committee, with P. Briers as vice-president and Lieut. H. E. Hunt as secretary-treasurer.

Other committees include: Tickets, Lieut. C. Gwyer (chairman), P. Briers, Lieut. P. Barber and G. Laflin; refreshments, Capt. Brindle (chairman), Lieut. Hunt and J. Puckey; decorations, Superintendent of Fire Alarms R. Winter, Department Mechanic W. Matthews and J. Puckey; master of ceremonies, Martin Woodburn, and assistant master of ceremonies, G. Laflin.

Al. Prescott's augmented orchestra of sixteen pieces will supply the music and dinner will be served in the ball-room and grill.

SIR H. LYTTON IS HONORED

Veteran Actor Receives Testimonial on Jubilee and Golden Wedding

Canadian Press
London, Feb. 6.—Amid the tumult of an enthusiastic audience which jammed the Hammersmith Theatre yesterday evening, Sir Henry Lytton, greatest living exponent of principal characters of Gilbert and Sullivan operas, received a testimonial from his admirers all over the world.

David Lloyd George, former Prime Minister, made the presentation, marking the jubilee year of Sir Henry's performance in the Savoy series, as well as his golden wedding anniversary.

"Princess Ida" was specially selected for it was in this opera that Sir Henry gave his initial performance as a member of the chorus fifty years ago.

The presentation followed the final curtain, the main feature being an album containing facsimile autographs of all the subscribers whose individual contributions were purposely limited to a small maximum figure.

FORGOT HIS WORDS
Sir Henry for once forgot his words, when he tried to express his gratitude to Savoyards both here and in his dominions, whose faces lighted whenever they hear a snatch of the immortal librettos and music.

The audience's enthusiasm reached its highest pitch, however, when Sir Henry, who is sixty-seven years of age, hinted the time had not yet arrived when he would be seen no more in the robes of Ko Ko, the monkey of Jack Point or the faded finery of the celebrated Duke of Blazo Toro.

Sir Henry Lytton has appeared in Victoria on several occasions with the D'Oyly Carte Opera Co.

URGENT REPEAL OF WAGE TAX

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Feb. 6.—A joint deputation of the Winnipeg Trades and Labor Council, the Manitoba executive of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, and the Legislative committee of railway train service organizations yesterday urged on the Manitoba Government repeal of the two per cent wage tax at the earliest possible date.

A memorandum described the wage tax act as "vicious, inequitable and reactionary legislation." Further, the government was told violations of the Minimum Wage Act at the present time were "appalling."

IS IN LONDON

Despite the injunction forbidding her appearance anywhere but Hollywood, Mary McCormack, opera star, arrives in London in gay mood for a role at the Palladium.

Mrs. McCormack, who has been in London for more than a week, and rumor says she has eloped, is "suspected" by the British press of being a Broadway theatrical producer, shown above with Miss Sullivan.

At least, Miss Sullivan last was seen to meet a "Mr. Harris" at the Los Angeles airport and to drive away with him.

Margaret Sullivan, beautiful young movie actress, has been gone from Hollywood for more than a week, and rumor says she has eloped. The man of her choice, it is "suspected," is Ted Harris, famous Broadway theatrical producer, shown above with Miss Sullivan.

Chapter Gives Splendid Service To T.B. Pavilion

Florence Nightingale I.O.D.E.
Give Much Assistance to Jubilee Hospital

Many Other Causes Aided;
Mrs. Kylie Symons Again
Regent

That its members are ably emulating the example of the noble woman whose name it perpetuates was demonstrated at the annual meeting of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E., yesterday afternoon, when its reports revealed a wonderful record of service to the T.B. pavilion at the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

GENEROUS GIFTS
Mrs. Kitching, convener of the committee in charge of this phase of the chapter's work, reported that tea had been served to the patients twenty times during the year, ice cream on five occasions and strawberries and cream three times. From February to May two or more boxes of apples were sent each month; at Easter each patient received a chocolate egg.

At Christmas decorated the pavilion and sunrooms, and served an excellent dinner to the patients, each patient also receiving a gift of $2.50 from the chapter. It was decided to send a box of oranges to the T.B. pavilion each month.

In addition to these little treats for the "inner man," the chapter provided five pairs of mittens, two dressing gowns, three dozen pyjamas, six pairs of bed socks, and held a book shower which produced 300 volumes for the pavilion's library.

NEDY FAMILIES HELPED
Nor was the T.B. pavilion the chapter's only care last year. Other benevolent work, as reported by Mrs. W. Turner, included the gift of four nightgowns to a needy family; sent three sacks of clothing to a school in the Peace River district; provided a prospective mother with material for a layette; made two other layettes and provided clothing for other needy cases, and supplying clothing for a family at Williams Lake, which had been left destitute through the burning of the home. Fruit, Christmas and birthday gifts were sent to the Soldiers for the small boys in the Florence Nightingale cot.

In the secretary's report, read by Mrs. Norman Baker, the affairs arranged during the year included a jig-saw tea party, birthday party, garden party at Hatley Park, and book shower, as well as many teas and card parties. The chapter assisted in supplying a radio to the Fender Island Hospital and contributed towards the municipal banner fund. In November, the chapter presented Miss Mitchell, superintendent of nurses at the Jubilee Hospital, with a framed picture of Florence Nightingale. The chapter won the tabledressing competition, for which they received the Queen Mary breakfast set.

MANY DONATIONS
Generous donations to many excellent causes were noted in the financial statement presented by Mrs. F. J. Hall, the treasurer, among them being: Solartium, $252, and $5 to its linen shower; Jubilee Hospital T.B. pavilion, $127.31; secondary education, $117; Columbia Coast Mission, $15; Girl Guides, $25; needy cases, $66; child welfare, $46.40; books for school, $24.30; Stewart memorial fund, $10; soldiers' graves, $10; Women's Workroom, $25; work in India, $5.

Mrs. A. Melis, educational secretary; Mrs. W. Hyslop, Echoes secretary; and Mrs. L. A. Lucas, standard bearer, gave their reports, and Mrs. Moody gave a comprehensive resume of the annual meeting of the Local Council of Women.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED
Mrs. Symons was unanimously re-elected regent, and also Mrs. Norman Baker to the post of secretary. Others chosen to fill offices included Mrs. F. W. Baylis, first vice-regent; Mrs. James Baker, second vice-regent; Mrs. P. Hall, treasurer; Mrs. A. Melis, educational secretary; Mrs. W. Hyslop, Echoes secretary; and Mrs. L. A. Lucas, standard bearer.

Mrs. Symons was presented with a beautiful basket of prize carnations, mauve iris and daffodils, also a bouquet of spring flowers from the members as a token of their affection and appreciation. To Mrs. George Waite, the retiring first vice-president, was presented a lovely basket of spring flowers by Mrs. Symons.

Mrs. L. A. Genge, Municipal regent, was welcomed back after her holiday and gave a fascinating glimpse into the charms of Honolulu, where the hibiscus blooms in exotic profusion, there being over 12,000 varieties, while a "tree of flowers" blossoms on the plant every day in the year. She also briefly touched upon the characteristics of the Hawaiians, who are a rapidly disappearing race. The tea table was beautifully arranged with spring flowers. The platform was surrounded with daffodils, pussy willow, Oregon grape and palms. The tea table was centered with a tall crystal vase filled with daffodils, Oregon grape and pussy willow, banked with four silver vases filled with violets. Smaller vases of daffodils completed the decorations. A three-tier ice cream cake was the centre of attraction.

Presiding at the tea and coffee urns were Mrs. F. J. Hall, Mrs. Hyslop and Mrs. W. Hyslop. Those assisting in serving were Miss Laura Catterall and Miss Phyllis Baylis and several Rangers.

Special guests were Mrs. Curtis Sampson of Provincial Chapter, Mrs. L. A. Genge, Mrs. R. B. McKicking and Mrs. J. Hebbel Gillespie, honorary regent of Municipal Chapter.

The regular meeting will be held on Thursday, at 2.30 p.m., at headquarters.

HUSBAND NOW ASSUMED DEAD

Vancouver, Feb. 6.—William Fyke, Delta farmer who disappeared seven years ago, was presumed officially dead by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, when the missing man's will was admitted to probate in Supreme Court Chambers here yesterday.

The petition of Emily Jane Fyke of Delta, who was named as sole executrix in the will made June 13, 1913, set out she last saw her husband on December 13, 1926, shortly after his return from a trip to England.

With her daughter, she met him in a departmental store in Vancouver and they arranged to have lunch there. Presumably he was following her to the cafeteria, Mrs. Fyke stated that when she turned expecting to find her husband, she saw her umbrella, which he had been carrying, on a table, but could find no trace of him.

Two days later, the wife reported, she received a letter from Mr. Fyke detailing his financial difficulties and telling her to come to him at once. She carried on all efforts to trace him failed. The estate for which letters probate were granted consists of real estate valued at $11 and showed payments of liabilities by the executrix amounting to $2,176.

Joseph Oliver appeared for Mrs. Fyke.

PLAN DANCE TO AID MEMORIAL

Foul Bay Community Association Sponsor Affair at Belmont Cabaret

In an effort to raise funds for the Dr. Fred Harling memorial fund, the Foul Bay Community Association next Tuesday evening will hold a dance in Belmont House, Victoria's new cabaret, which has been kindly placed at the disposal of the members by the management.

Percy Payne, manager of the association, stated this morning that the operators of the cabaret had offered all services free to the association and every effort was to be made to make the affair a success to swell the memorial fund.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. Payne to Premier Pattullo and members of the Cabinet to attend the dance with their wives and it is anticipated there will be a distinguished representation of the government.

Persons desiring to obtain tickets or make reservations for the occasion are requested to telephone Belmont House or Empire 3430.

ORPHANS' HOME NAMES OFFICERS

Mrs. F. V. Longstaff Chosen New Head of Ladies' Committee Yesterday

Mrs. F. V. Longstaff was elected president of the ladies' committee of the Protestant Orphans' Home at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon in conjunction with the monthly meeting.

Other officers chosen were: Honorary presidents, Mrs. C. H. Walker and Mrs. J. H. Dorman; first vice-president, Mrs. D. C. Hughes; second vice-president, Mrs. W. L. Fraser; recording secretary, Mrs. J. G. Simpson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. T. Elliott; treasurer, Mrs. P. C. Dillabough; flower convener, Mrs. A. McKeown. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring officers.

A standing vote of sympathy was passed for the families of the late J. A. Seward and T. Humphries, both having been generous friends of the institution.

There are forty-four children now in the home, twenty-six girls and eighteen boys; six have been admitted during January, the monthly report showed. Rev. J. B. Howell gave the children a happy evening with lantern slides of the "Birth of Jesus." Seven of the older girls were the guests of their Sunday school teacher, Miss Murkar, for supper and an evening of games.

The first vice-president was in the chair and the following members were present: Mesdames Elliott, Hughes, Dillabough, Calvert, Fraser, McKeown, Cox, O. M. Brown, Coutts, Dorman, Simpson, Heddie, E. M. Brown, Shepherd, Sherwood, Humphries, Grimison, Diamond, and the Misses Newbury and Murray.

Visiting ladies for February will be Mrs. J. H. Dorman and Mrs. W. Dismore.

Donations gratefully received in January were: Mrs. H. Binslings, groceries; Burley's Bakery, twenty-seven loaves bread; Lansell's Bakery, twenty loaves bread; Mrs. G. Gossman, two boxes apples; Mrs. W. H. Douglas, jam and apple; Mrs. C. Caris, scrap book; Miss Campbell, books; Barbers' Union, hair cut; Dr. Bryant and Dr. Gibson, for services; Times and Colonist.

Joseph Oliver appeared for Mrs. Fyke.

Victoria College Notes

Last week the International Relations Society heard Raja Singh, lecturer of the Indian Christian Mission, speak on India and her relations with foreign countries.

A meeting of the Men's Discussion Club was held Thursday last. The topics debated were as follows: "Should government control of sweepstakes in aid of hospitals be legalized?" and the customary humorous debate, "Resolved that a co-ed dance is degrading and demoralizing to the prestige of men students."

The production of the college play, "The Hale McCoy," will take place in the first week of next month. A committee has been appointed to obtain costumes for the actors and stage hands are being selected. Anyone willing to make posters is asked to communicate with Miss Rhoda Walton. Arrangements have been made by the Students' Council for the Players' Club reception, which will be held after the final presentation of the play in honor of the actors and actresses.

A meeting of the Science Club is scheduled for the near future. The speaker of the evening as far as is known, will be the honorary president, Prof. P. Elliott, whose subject will be "Hypnotism."

At a meeting of the Students' Christian Movement, directed by Prof. Stanley Farr, the topic was "A Study of the Social Teachings of a Nomad Race."

RESIGNS FROM FAIR BOARD

J. H. Whittome Replaced By
D. V. Dunlop as Cowichan
Agricultural Director

Special To The Times
Duncan, Feb. 6.—The annual general meeting of the Cowichan Agricultural Society was held Saturday afternoon, when the directors' report showed a great deal had been done and things were in much better shape than formerly. Twenty-eight new members were enrolled during the year.

The new agreement with the bondholders has been signed, and when this has been signed by the trustee and returned to the society the balance sheet will show a decided margin of assets over liabilities, the first time for some years. In the new arrangement the debentures have been cut to $7,500 and the society will pay 4 per cent on $7,000 and 2 per cent on $500. This will mean $290 per year interest to be met by revenue from the hall, and any balance left, after all necessary payments have been made, including insurance, will be applied to the reduction of the principal. A vote of thanks was passed to the trustees for the bondholders, thanking him for the fair manner in which he had treated the society, and also to the committee in charge.

The resignation of J. H. Whittome from the board was accepted with regret and a vote of thanks tendered to him for his valuable services.

D. V. Dunlop, elected in his place. The other four directors, who automatically retired from the board, were re-elected: H. D. Evans, A. H. Peterson, P. G. James, E. W. Neil and Col. H. D. McLaughlin. The election of an auditor was left to the board of directors.

Suggestions were put forward regarding the arrangements for the fall fair. Dissatisfaction was expressed at the cutting out of the sections for women's work and arts and crafts at the last fair, and this will probably be included again. The question of rules regarding butcher lambs and sheep was also brought up and this will probably be looked into and altered, also rules regarding sheep exhibited by children.

A resolution was passed protesting against the renting of Indian land to Orientals. No taxes are paid on this land and it is therefore obtainable more cheaply and the farmer who has bought his land and is heavily taxed thereon cannot compete with the Oriental. This protest will be forwarded to the proper authorities.

PERSONS AND EVENTS IN THE NEWS

NAMED CORRESPONDENT

Pausing in his European wanderings, Douglas Fairbanks, meandering member of a famous screenland family, greets Ethel Barrymore as the latter arrives in London for a Barrie role. Mr. Fairbanks, who already was being sued for divorce by Mary Pickford in the United States, to-day was named correspondent in Lord Ashley's divorce action in London, Eng.

BOY UNDER KNIFE

The law intervened in an effort to save Raymond Velle, four, above, when his parents, Eau Claire, Wis., refused to allow an operation for bone infection removal, declaring the lad could be healed only by prayer. The court ordered surgery after doctors had pleaded vainly with the parents.

GLORIOUS!

"Glorious," was the exclamation of the Marchesa Eleonora Spiniola of Paris, above, gazing on California for the first time she could remember, as she left her native state when she was a baby. And California said "glorious," too, when it looked admiringly at the Marchesa.

EAGLE SLAIN IN ATTACK ON FARMER

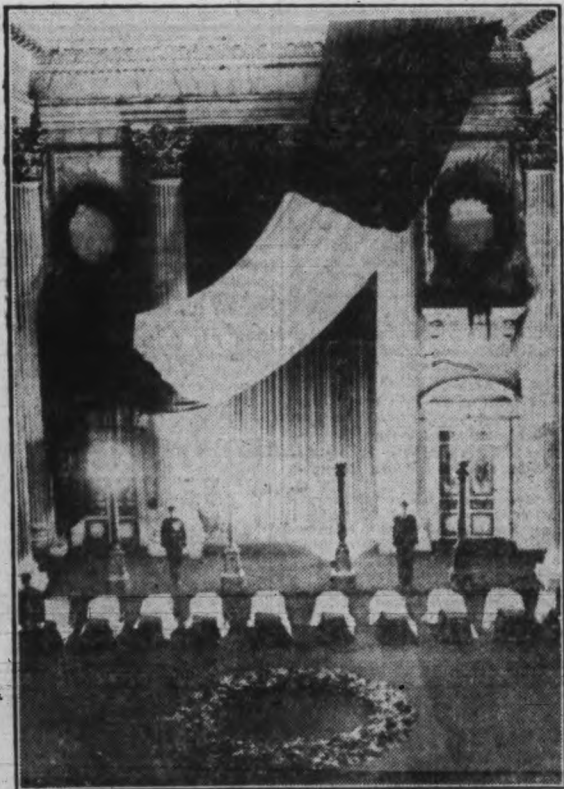

To be attacked by an eagle which he was trying to scare away as a result of missing numerous chickens and turkeys, was the experience of Albert Stevens of Highland Creek, Ontario. That he managed to kill the bird with a .20 shotgun with number six shot was due to good marksmanship. At the first shot the bird flew directly at him. Stevens fired again at ten feet and brought the eagle down. He brought it to his cousin Fireman "Jimmy" Stevens of Toronto shown above and the bird has been turned over to a taxidermist.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS AGAINST WAR

Roger Peck, fifteen-year-old Minneapolis high school boy, has a little golden cross, with an American eagle, and bearing the words "For Valor." It is all Roger has in place of the father who died in France, never knowing that he had a son. Roger was born while a transport was carrying his father to France. A letter telling of Roger's birth was found unopened in the dugout after Roger's father, William R. Peck, was cut down by German machine-gun fire while heroically protecting an officer during an assault. The letter was sent back unopened to Peck's war bride. Fifteen years later, a fine, straight lad stood at attention as Lieut.-Col. E. V. Cutler, Ft. Snelling, bestowed Peck's Distinguished Service Cross on the boy who never knew his father. The mother, now Mrs. V. B. Ryberg, looked on. But Roger does not believe in war. "I've seen the grief it has brought my mother," he says. "I don't believe many boys my age want to see another war. I know the boys I go to high school with are against it."

VICTIMS OF THE FRENCH AIR LINER DISASTER

The above picture shows the caskets containing the ten victims of the French air liner, Emeraude, disaster, reposing in the chapel of the Military School in Paris, before interment. Among the victims were the Governor-General of Indo-China; director of Civil Aviation in France; director of Technical Services in the French Air Ministry, and traffic manager of the Air France Company. The Emeraude, which was France's largest and fastest passenger monoplane, was capable of a speed of 200 miles an hour. It crashed in flames near Vichy, France.

HUSBAND NOT DEAD

Reappearance of her "dead" husband, J. Z. Robertson, halted the suit of Mrs. Nora Demaree, above, in Oklahoma City, for his $5,000 war risk insurance. She remarried after she believed him dead in the World War, but he returned as "J. W. Maxwell," and the case was dismissed. A federal inquiry may follow.

STUDENTS ALL FOR HITLER

Hail Hitler was the theme song of these students seen on march in Berlin recently as they participated in the sixty-third anniversary celebration of founding of the present German state.

WOMAN HURT, FOUR ESCAPE IN TRAFALGAR CRASH

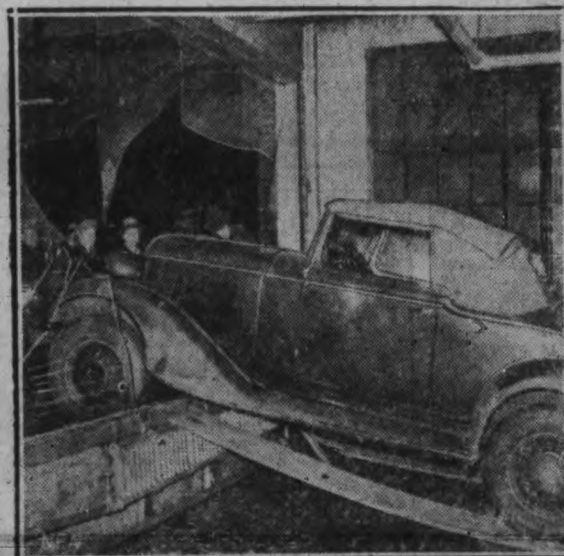

When their car tobogganed down an ice-clad hill, crashed through a wooden guardrail and turned turtle in two feet of water in sixteen-mile creek valley, Ontario, four persons escaped injury, but Mrs. Charles G. Gordon lay for over two hours suffering from internal injuries and a broken shoulder before she could be carried up the slippery road to safety. The car, badly damaged, is shown where it landed after plunging through the guardrail to the right.

NOT WHAT IT SEEMS

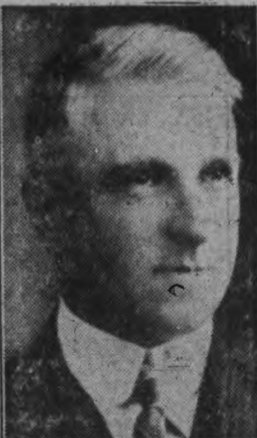

This is not a reflection but the Parisian twins, Georgette and Raymond, proving their remarkable likeness in a novel way, by using a frame. The twins, known as "The Pot-Girls," are now hard at work rehearsing for their first appearance in London, which will be in the new French revue "Sourire de Paris."

"1934 MODEL" THEFT GOES TO SMASH

Auto thieves had planned a smashing getaway with the high-priced car shown in this shattered window, but their pilot literally went to smash. The runaway they had built in a Cincinnati showroom broke under the car's weight, as they were near success, and they fled when the noise attracted a policeman.

CHIEF OF HURONS

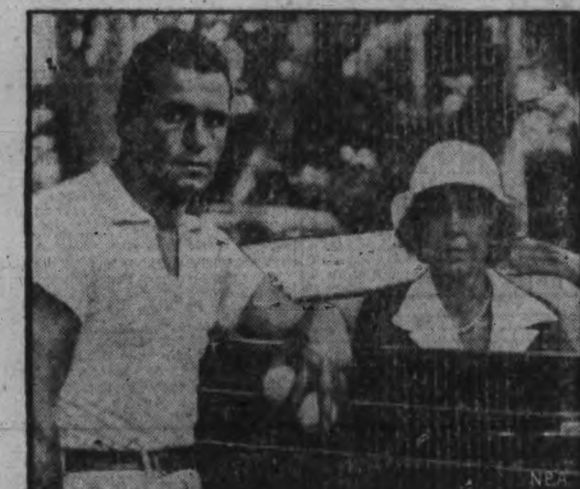

The Council of the Huron Indian tribe of Loretteville, Quebec, has forwarded a petition to the Governor-General, urging the appointment to the Senate of Ludwig Hatcher, above, chief of the tribe and former M.P.P. for Quebec County.

NEW SPANISH CUSTOM TO PREVENT REVOLT

This looks like a wholesale hold-up—and it is, but within the law. Workers coming from factories in Barcelona, Spain, are being searched by police for bombs and other arms, following the recent anarchist revolt, in which seventy-five persons lost their lives. Scenes like this are common throughout the entire republic as the government takes measures to prevent a recurrence of anarchist outbreak.

STILL "COURTING" AFTER MARRIAGE

Emulating Gene Tunney in the drama, "From Prize Ring to Society," Enzo Piermonte, Italian ex-pugilist, is shown here in a new "courtship" pose, with his bride, Mrs. William K. Dick, at Palm Beach, Fla. tennis courts. The match paired eastern social circles, where Mrs. Dick, widow of John Jacob Astor, who died on the Titanic, and divorced wife of W. K. Dick, is prominent.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been engaged to a boy for three years and we are no closer to marriage than when we started. He is the sole support of his mother, who is a woman fifty-three years old, and he does not make enough money to support two homes. We could get married if I would consent to live with his mother, but I don't think that is a sound investment for a happy marriage, although she is nice. He says if I love him that I would be willing to make this sacrifice for him, but I say that it is because I love him that I am afraid to risk breaking up our marriage. Now what should I do? Should I go on with this interminable engagement, or should we break up? We care a lot for each other, but I feel as if I am wasting my time. NINETEEN.

Answer—You will find the answer to your problem in your own heart. Look carefully into that and try to find out whether you love your fiancé so much that the very thought of life without him is intolerable.

If you feel that existence without him will be a curse, and that, then, go ahead and marry him, notwithstanding the handicap of a mother-in-law. Play fair. Don't take your happiness at the expense of that of the man and his mother. Don't marry him and go to live with his mother unless you have fully made up your mind to get along in peace with her and to absorb her affection and consideration that you would show your own mother. Under these conditions there is no man so miserable as the one who has to live with a wife and mother who are always quarrelling and calling upon him to judge between them. It is a literally torn piece between them. Yet it is a common thing for the two women who love a man best to thus cruelly torture him.

Of course, a marriage has a better chance of success if a young couple can go off by themselves and set up their home alone. It is easier for them to adjust themselves to each other if there is no mother sitting on the sidelines refereeing their fights and taking part in the scrimmage. But there are many cases, like yours, in which a man cannot support two establishments and where it is necessary for his mother to live with them.

Whether this is a curse or a blessing depends, as a general thing, upon the spirit in which the young bride meets her mother-in-law. Of course, there are some cases in which the mother is filled with jealousy and resents her son's marriage at all. Sometimes she sets herself to alienate her son from his wife and break up the marriage.

But the mean mother-in-law is the exception rather than the rule. Most women love their sons and want them to be happy and would be glad enough to be friends with their daughters-in-law. If it is the daughters-in-law who only let them.

So it is perfectly possible for the young wife to make a friend of her mother-in-law and to really find in her another mother, and mothers-in-law can be an ever-present help in times of trouble, especially when the babies begin to come, and an overworked and overtaxed young mother is glad enough to have a little assistance.

It seems to me that a woman cares very little for a man if she lets the little thing like a hogboon of a mother-in-law scare her off from marrying him. And I think her love is a poor thing if it isn't strong enough to stand a little meddling and a little advice from her mother-in-law in order to make her husband happy.

But you are right about one thing, and that is that if you are going to let the idea of living with a mother-in-law keep you from marrying this man you had better break the engagement off now. For there is no use in waiting, and it is fatter to the man as well as to yourself not to drag out a hopeless engagement.

Youth is the marrying time of life for a girl. She must make her hay while the sun of her good looks shines. So it is folly for you to tie yourself longer to a man whose conditions of marriage you cannot alter and will not accept.

But don't forget that a loving and loyal son is mighty likely to make a loving and loyal husband.

USE ONLY TENDER MEAT IN CROQUETTES

BY MISTER MARY

Croquettes provide one of the most attractive ways of using left-over meats. Or, very often cheap cuts can be boiled and used to excellent advantage in croquettes for a company luncheon. Almost any kind of meat can be worked up in delicious croquettes. Lamb, veal, tender pork, poultry and fish are most inviting used this way. Combinations of meat also are satisfactory. Veal and ham, chicken and ham and veal and pork are appetizing mixtures.

There are a few precautions to keep in mind if perfect croquettes are to be assured. In the first place the meat must be prepared very carefully. Every bit of skin, fat or gristle must be discarded and only clear tender meat used in the croquette mixture.

The meat is then minced and added to a sauce as the sauce is taken from the fire. This is important because care must be taken not to over-cook the meat.

COVERING WITH CRUMBS

The crumbling and egging is another important step in croquette making. Every particle of the surface of a croquette must be completely covered with crumbs and egg. The reason for this is that the egg quickly coagulates in contact with heat, forming a coating which the frying fat cannot penetrate. Since this coating protects the delicate texture of the croquette mixture, carelessness in crumbling and egging may permit the croquette to break during the frying. A first coating of fine crumbs, one of slightly beaten egg and a final coating of crumbs give good results.

The shaping of croquettes is not a difficult task, but here again care must be observed. The mixture must be handled very gently, with the least possible pressure exerted in molding. The usual shapes are ball, cone, cylinder, chop and cutlet. The last two shapes require a larger amount of croquette mixture than the others. The following suggestions for shaping may help you.

To shape croquettes, first thoroughly wash hands and rinse in cold water. Then do not dry. Take a rounded tablespoon of the mixture and place on a molding board and shape quickly with fingers. Roll the mixture into a ball first. Then if not wanted in this shape, roll to a cylinder and flatten ends. If a cone is wanted, flatten only one end and gently roll with greater pressure on other end.

The inside of all croquettes should be soft and creamy and the outside crisp and brown.

Lamb croquettes are typical of any meat croquette. The seasoning is changed for different varieties of meat, but the basic rule remains the same whether fish, fowl or meat is used.

LAMB CROQUETTES

Two cups finely chopped cold cooked lamb, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 3 tablespoons butter, 1-3 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 cup milk or lamb stock, 1 egg.

Melt butter, add onion and parsley and cook over a slow fire for five minutes. Stir in flour, cook and stir until bubbly. Slowly add liquid, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point, add salt and pepper and egg slightly beaten. Cook and stir for one minute and remove from fire. Stir in meat and spread on platter to cool. When cool shape into croquettes, dip in egg slightly beaten with roll again in crumbs. Fry in deep fat hot enough to brown an inch cube of bread in forty seconds or 385 degrees F. on a fat thermometer. Drain on paper and serve with a creamed vegetable.

How To Get Rid of Gloomy Birds

New law in Turkey requires every male inhabitant up to the age of sixty to bring to police each month at least one crow, dead or alive, or pay a heavy fine, crows being disliked as "birds of ill-omen." Well, it's not in Turkey only that birds of ill-omen are squawking,

SEEK LOWER

FIRE RATES

Wardens to Fight for Reduction of Charges Made By Insurance Groups

On the grounds that Victoria is charged rates far too high for fire insurance in view of the protection given the city and the smallness of losses during recent years, Aldermen Walter Lunney, chairman of the city fire wardens, and T. W. C. Hawkins, will seek an interview between the board of British Columbia Insurance Underwriters and the public works committee in an effort to secure reduced charges.

The city was being continually asked to improve equipment, but never did the insurance companies voluntarily announce a cut in their rates, Alderman Lunney said. He felt Victoria was being penalized for the poor equipment of other cities and was being used to make up losses incurred by insurance companies in other centres.

"The long have been asked to maintain a plant for others to make a profit out of, for that is what we are doing when we maintain a fire department," he said.

The trucks and crews are maintained so the insurance companies may make a higher profit, and thus offset the loss they sustain in other cities not so well equipped," Alderman Lunney declared.

WAR TO SNUFF

LIFE WHOLESALERS

Horror of Next Struggle Forecast By Guy Sheppard; Soldier Heroes Now Scorned

How human life will be snuffed out wholesale in the next war with poison gas showered over women and children in their homes in the cities as well as over the fighting men at the front or on their way to it, was told before a large crowd at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening by T. Guy Sheppard, M.C., in a C.C.F. lecture on "Cry Havoc."

Mr. Sheppard compared the soldiers of the early days of the last war who were cheered and made heroes of by the nice people, to the same soldiers who have gone through the battles and are now back living in poverty and scorned by the nice people who had cheered them before.

"Patriotism has become a thing dead," Mr. Sheppard went on. "It was responsible for calling to the colors of the finest of a nation's manhood, but it has become a thing not of love of flag or country, but for the cold greed of a capitalist minority."

EDUCATE AGAINST WAR

Instead of preparing for the next war, Mr. Sheppard urged people to prepare to prevent the next war by carrying out a systematic plan of education so that when the time came there would be such a large body of opinion against it that it would be impossible for the world to be proceeded with.

Mr. Sheppard paid a tribute to way of apology to the members of the Oxford Group Movement. He declared that many of these were sincere men and women, out to bring about a system of society that would be much different from that under which the mass of people suffer to-day.

"Radicalism and Socialism are the only things that will change the system for the good of all humanity," Mr. Sheppard said.

Mr. Sheppard announced that Dr. Lyle Telford, described as the most popular speaker in British Columbia, will deliver an address at the Chamber of Commerce next Monday evening.

W. B. Caird was the chairman.

BATHTUB GIN

PROVES BEST

Washington, D.C., Feb. 6.-The boys and girls who used to produce gin by sloshing alcohol, water and juniper juice around in a bathtub were vindicated partly as successful chemists at the FACA liquor label hearings.

Proposed regulations provided that labels distinguish between distilled gin and synthetic gin. Julius Marcus of United Distillers and Winers insisted that synthetic gin was a better product than distilled gin, everything depending on the alcohol's quality. He admitted it was a lot cheaper to make, as well.

IN NEW COMEDY AT DOMINION

Prince's Life

To Be Shown

"The Prince of Wales" will open at the Capitol Theatre to-morrow. The picture has been excellently assembled from a mass of material and has been approved by the Prince himself. The commentary is delivered in an interesting and dignified manner.

The babyhood and boyhood of the Prince are treated briefly, but from the moment of the investiture at Carrara his many activities are treated very representatively. His career as soldier, sportsman and ambassador are treated under these sections, and the latter part of the film dealing with his interest in social activities and the closing military parade are given skilful treatment.

Also on the same programme will be the British picture, "Falling For You," starring Jack Hulbert and Cicely Courtneidge.

Famous Dog

Coming Here

Silver King, the wonder dog of Hollywood, will make his first stage appearance at the Empire Theatre in person on Saturday, for a week's engagement.

Silver King is claimed to have almost human intelligence. He can understand and obey almost 300 words. Last week he was made a member of the Vancouver Police Department and on Saturday directed traffic on one of the main thoroughfares of the terminal city.

Prince's Life

To Be Shown

"The Prince of Wales" will open at the Capitol Theatre to-morrow. The picture has been excellently assembled from a mass of material and has been approved by the Prince himself. The commentary is delivered in an interesting and dignified manner.

The babyhood and boyhood of the Prince are treated briefly, but from the moment of the investiture at Carrara his many activities are treated very representatively. His career as soldier, sportsman and ambassador are treated under these sections, and the latter part of the film dealing with his interest in social activities and the closing military parade are given skilful treatment.

Also on the same programme will be the British picture, "Falling For You," starring Jack Hulbert and Cicely Courtneidge.

Famous Dog

Coming Here

Silver King, the wonder dog of Hollywood, will make his first stage appearance at the Empire Theatre in person on Saturday, for a week's engagement.

Silver King is claimed to have almost human intelligence. He can understand and obey almost 300 words. Last week he was made a member of the Vancouver Police Department and on Saturday directed traffic on one of the main thoroughfares of the terminal city.

FOURTH DEGREE

A Mystery Novel

By K. S. DAIGER

(Copyright by Macrae-Smith Company)

But the other simply disappeared. He neither retreated or advanced. One second he was there and the next he wasn't and that was all there was to it. Carroll, every sense alert, decided to investigate. Running his machine to the side of the road, he dismounted and started along the lane on foot. Drawing out his powerful police flashlight, he sent its beams up the path. At once he saw what had happened. A tiny foot track branched off from the main lane and communicated with the State road a little closer to Towson. At this moment he heard a sound of a starter as a machine was put under way. The man had simply walked to his own car, parked on the main thoroughfare, and he had started back for the city. Carroll hesitated. Maybe he ought to follow and stop the driver and ask to see his license and registration card. Then he looked down the lane. There were lights in the Phelps house, and in Ranny Paige's home, and farther away still more lights in the Handy residence up on the hill. As for the fellow parking his car on the main highway—well, that did look queer. But he had just witnessed two indiscreet arrests, Carroll told himself grimly, and he was learning. Two o'clock was late for most folks, but for society people the night was just under way. He contented himself with glancing at his watch. Exactly two—and he heard the big clock in the Towson tower boom the hour. So he again mounted his motorcycle and plodded dutifully along his beat. He had not a single glimpse of the strange automobile which he had seen him, but doubtless far down the road by this time. But, as it happened, this time he had made a dreadful error in not pursuing the mystery car for when he reached Towson a half hour later, terrible news awaited him, news that shook the young officer to the depths of his being and which was to rock the city of Baltimore on its very foundations. While Carroll had parked on his machine and meditated over his troubles, and while the great moon was turning Dulany Valley into Fairyland, grim and stark tragedy had been going on in the Paige estate—in the little white house in the hollow that belonged to Ranny Paige and his wife.

CHAPTER II

Scarcely more than fifteen minutes had passed after Carroll had started his return trip, before the dark sergeant at the Towson police station laid aside a cross-word puzzle which he was placidly working out, and answered the telephone. There was a man at the other end of the wire, a man so badly frightened and whose voice trembled so that the sergeant could just catch the words he was trying to speak into the phone. "Towson Police Station? For God's sake, send a doctor quick. This is Paige speaking, Ranny Paige. My wife is dead—someone has killed her! Call a doctor quick, will you?" "Coming instantly, sir," answered the sergeant, as the ominous significance of the words sank in. "Keep your head and we'll be there in ten minutes. "Riley," he shouted to a dozing patrolman, "Ranny Paige's wife is dead! Phone Dr. Henry Warner here in Towson and tell him to come as quickly as possible. "Biggs and you, Henderson," to a couple of policemen who were standing dumb with surprise, "come with me. Biggs, you can drive and step on the gas." A minute later the sergeant and his two assistants were flashing up the Towson State road and ten minutes later they were running up the boxed lined walk to the Paige house. Ranny Paige, as white as a ghost, was standing in the open hall door. "Thank God, you're here," he cried. "This is terrible! Come upstairs." Without asking any questions, the three police officers followed him to the second floor and into a tiny room at the front. Stretched out on a chaise-longue was the body of a young girl, her face black and distorted, her mouth swollen. The men winced with horror. One glance told them that she was beyond all human help. "Dead!" said Paige hopelessly. "How did it happen?" asked the sergeant, glancing around the room. "Oh, I don't know. I just came home. She was dangling there—from the chandelier, hanging from that yellow silk cord which belongs on her dress. I cut her down." Now the sergeant perceived that one end of a slender rope was attached to the main chandelier in the centre of the room and that an ornate chair was directly underneath it. "Suicide," he murmured. Just then there came the sharp sound of grating brakes on the door outside, the slam of a door, and a moment later, Dr. Henry Warner, minus a hat, and with his black bag in his hand, came clashing up the stairs. He stopped in the open doorway and gave an involuntary gasp as his eyes took in the scene. "Oh, doctor, she isn't dead, is she?" Dr. Warner bent over and touched the lifeless hand for a moment. Then he laid his ear against the girl's breast. "She's quite dead, Ranny," he said gently. "There is nothing we can do. What happened?" "Oh, who could have done this terrible thing?" moaned Paige. "Everybody liked Sunny. Who would have murdered her?" "Have a look around the first floor, will you?" said the sergeant in a low voice to one of his men. "Be careful, too." Then to the doctor he gave a nod of the head and the two moved over to the embrasure of the window. "Make an examination, will you?" said the sergeant in a whisper. "Be certain there's been no assault." The doctor nodded his understanding. "Ranny," he said gently to the horrified husband who was still bending over his wife's body, "I want to be alone with Sunny for a little while. Go down to the library, will you, and try to pull yourself together." Paige turned silently and left the room. For a little while there was silence in the room. Then Dr. Warner turned to the waiting policeman. "There's been no criminal assault, gentlemen," he said definitely. "I have no hesitation in saying that this is a case of suicide. And it's the worst because I find that this little girl would soon have become a mother. I'll go down and tell Ranny." At this second, Biggs, who had been making his examination of the first floor, returned to report. "Not a thing out of place," he said. "All doors and windows locked. Not a sign of anything missing."

UNCLE WIGGILY MAKES A HIT

By Howard R. Garis

Uncle Wiggily had been helping the animal boys from the Hollow Stump School make a snow fort. When it was nearly finished Sammie Littell shouted: "I think the enemy is coming!" "I told you that much last night, if you will kindly remember." "Did you see the enemy, Sammie?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "No," answered the little rabbit boy, "I didn't, thank you. When I was over close to the edge of the woods getting a last bit of snow to stop up a hole in the east wall of the fort, I heard some howls." "The Wolf howls," said Jackie Bow Wow. "So does the Fox, sometimes," said Billie Wagtail. "But the Bob Cat meows," whispered Jimmie Wibblewobble, a boy duck. "Dear me! I hope those three Bad Chaps aren't coming here to bother us just when you boys want to have a play fight with snowballs around the snow fort," said the rabbit gentleman. "Maybe we'll all better get inside the fort," suggested Sammie, who had given the first alarm. "If it was the Bad Chaps I heard howling in the woods and if they come at us, they can't hurt us if we are inside the fort." "Very true," agreed Mr. Longears. "And we can throw snowballs at the Bad Chaps, if they come," barked Peetie Bow Wow. "For there's a lot of snow inside the fort." "Very true," said Uncle Wiggily again. "Quick now! Into the fort, everybody!" Those animal boys who were still outside the fort now ran toward it, leaping over the walls to get safely inside. Those who were inside, where they had been patching up the holes between the snowballs of which the walls of the fort were made, greeted their chums. "It's like the Lady Mouse Teacher read to us out of the history book," said Jackie Bow Wow. "How in the early days when the Indians came, the white settlers used to run away and hide behind the walls of the fort." "Maybe the Indians were Indians that Sammie heard howling," suggested Peetie, one of the two doggie brothers. "There are no Indians around here now," said Uncle Wiggily. "Only Bad Chaps, and I hope none of them is coming to make a fight." But alas for Uncle Wiggily's hopes! When he and the others were safely within the fort, the sudden, the howling sounded again, louder than ever, and Billie Wagtail, the goat bleated: "Here they come and they're the Bad Chaps all right!" Surely enough, out of the forest and across the ice-came running toward the snow fort, the Wolf, the Fox, and the Bob Cat. The three Bad Chaps had been wandering around in the woods and, seeing the rabbit gentleman and so many nice little animal boys close by, had made up their minds to get some of them. "Well, boys, here is the enemy surely enough," said Uncle Wiggily looking over the top of the fort. "Now we must fight to drive them away. Make all the snowballs you can and pile them up ready to throw as soon as those Bad Chaps get near enough." It did not take the animal boys long to make many snowballs. But, all the while, the Fox, the Wolf and the Bob Cat were coming nearer and nearer to the fort. Then the Wolf threw a snowball which hit Sammie Littell, who cried "Ouch!" Then the Bob Cat tossed another ball, which hit Peetie Bow Wow on his tail, but did not hurt much. Then the Wolf threw two balls, for he was that clever, teasing one with his right and one with his left paw, and one of these banged Jimmie Wibblewobble's foot and the other tapped Charlie Chick the rooster, on his beak. "Fire, boys! Fire!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Pile the Bad Chaps with snowballs!" So the animal boys in the fort threw snowballs back at the Bad Chaps. Some balls hit, but others missed. "Come on! We're not afraid of them! We'll capture the fort!" howled the Wolf. All three started for the fort, intending to leap over the walls. But Uncle Wiggily picked up a big snowball and threw it at the Wolf. The rabbit made a hit on the Wolf's nose and that Bad Chap howled so hard that the Bob Cat and the Fox thought they didn't want any of the same. So they ran away and the Wolf ran also when the tears stopped dribbling out of his eyes. "Ha! We have won the fight!" said Uncle Wiggily. "The fort is ours, my brave boys! And so it was. And if the rich roast turkey doesn't laugh at the poor ham sandwich when they meet in the lurch wagon, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's snow man." (Copyright, 1934, by H. R. Garis.)
